Jon started his career working in the midstream sector doing financial evaluations of midstream assets for Keyera Energy. Jon left Keyera for a role in investor relations with Husky Energy where he worked on various equity and debt offerings. He later moved to the investment & economic analysis group where he was responsible for working on various mergers and acquisitions the company was involved in. He was also responsible for commodity forecasting, asset evaluations and support for the executive investment council.

Jon joined CAPP in August of 2015 and co-led CAPP's engagement on the Alberta Royalty Review, as well as provided support on a variety of fiscal issues. Jon as manager of fiscal & economic policy at CAPP is responsible for overseeing fiscal policy, economic analysis, financial modelling, and capital markets outreach as well co-leads CAPP's Sustainable Finance and ESG efforts.

Jon holds a BA (Economics & History/Political Science) and an MBA in Finance from the University of Alberta. Jon was born in Edmonton and while he lives in Calgary now, he still cheers for the Oilers.

The Canadian Association of Petroleum Producers (CAPP) represents companies, large and small, that explore for, develop and produce natural gas and crude oil throughout Canada. CAPP's member companies produce about 80 per cent of Canada's natural gas and crude oil. CAPP's associate members provide a wide range of services that support the upstream crude oil and natural gas industry. Together CAPP's members and associate members are an important part of a national industry with revenues from oil and natural gas production of about $120 billion a year.
